

No haul for alleged poachers as Inland Fisheries grab equipment

Fishing is not allowed in Corkagh Park and Inland Fisheries enforces regulations

INLAND FISHERIES Ireland officers attended the scene of an alleged incident of poaching that happened at Corkagh Park recently and seized a net at the location, reports Stephen Farrell.

"Inland Fisheries Ireland (IFI) is aware of an incident that took place at Corkagh Park recently. IFI officers attended the scene, and seized a net at the location," the IFI said in a statement to The Echo.

IFI enforces bye-laws and regulations to protect, manage and conserve Ireland's freshwater fisheries and sea-angling resources.

South Dublin County Council (SDCC) has also stated that an increased presence of Park Rangers has been arranged during park hours.

These reports of alleged poaching were brought to the attention of Councillor Francis Timmons (Ind).

"Recently tench were being brought home until a passerby challenged them, the poacher would have caught them alive and then thrown them into a bag where they [would have] died. Do not take them home!" said Cllr Timmons.

The Clondalkin representative also related another alleged incident of poaching at the Corkagh Park lakes and the concerns of genuine fishing people.

"Again more fish were caught in a net and poached [and] I have had a number of distressed genuine fishing people onto me who catch and release," said Cllr Timmons.

The Independent Councillor is very concerned with the issue and called on IFI and SDCC to address the issue.

"Corkagh Park fishing is getting destroyed by poaching at the minute. Inland Fisheries Ireland and South Dublin County Council need to do something to sort it or the fishing will be gone," he said.

Councillor Timmons added that he has a few questions gone into SDCC and that he intends to raise the issue at the October area meeting as a motion.

However in its response to queries from The Echo, Ms Sharon Conroy, Senior Executive Officer, Environment, Water and Climate Change, said that the fishing facility in Corkagh Park is closed and that SDCC do not allow the public to fish there, adding that if Park Rangers come across members of the public fishing, they are requested to stop.

"Section 5.3 (a) of the Park & Open Spaces Bye Laws 2011 which relates to waters . . . [states that], no person shall walk, swim, fish, or bathe, in any waters in a park except in those areas which may be set aside for that purpose," said Ms Conroy.

If any poaching equipment is found unattended SDCC will remove it, added Ms Conroy.

IFI urges the public to report instances of fish kills, water pollution, habitat destruction, or illegal fishing to its confidential 24/7 number, 0818 34 74 24.
